Examinations are important, BUT THEY ARE NOT THE ONLY WAY TO JUDGE A STUDENT. An exam mostly checks how well a student can remember and write information. But what about CREATIVITY, INTELLIGENCE, LEADERSHIP, CRITICAL THINKING, AND PROBLEM-SOLVING? These qualities cannot always be measured on an exam paper.

I am not saying examinations are unnecessary. THEY ARE IMPORTANT. But ONE EXAM SHOULD NEVER DECIDE A PERSON'S ENTIRE FUTURE. Marks can show how a student performed in an exam, BUT THEY CANNOT SHOW A PERSON'S FULL POTENTIAL.

If we look at history, we can find many successful people who did not have perfect academic records. BILL GATES left Harvard without completing his degree, yet became one of the world's most successful entrepreneurs. STEVE JOBS dropped out of college, yet helped build Apple into a global technology giant. THOMAS EDISON struggled in school, yet became one of the greatest inventors in history. These examples show us that MARKS ALONE DO NOT DETERMINE SUCCESS.

Also, EVERY STUDENT IS DIFFERENT. Some are talented in music, some in sports, some in art, some in technologies while others are good at leadership or innovation. These talents may never be seen in an examination. If we judge students only by their marks, WE MAY IGNORE THEIR GREATEST ABILITIES.

Another problem is the pressure examinations create. When marks become the ONLY DEFINITION OF SUCCESS, students can become more focused on grades than on REAL LEARNING AND PERSONAL GROWTH.

So, we believe that examinations are important, BUT THEY SHOULD NOT BE THE ONLY MEASURE OF A STUDENT'S ABILITY OR FUTURE. We should also value a student's CREATIVITY, SKILLS, CHARACTER, TALENT, AND POTENTIAL.

And remember:

MARKS CAN SHOW WHAT A STUDENT KNOWS TODAY — BUT THEY CANNOT DECIDE WHAT THAT STUDENT CAN ACHIEVE TOMORROW.

THANK YOU.
